

RALEIGH MAGAZINE

Calling Editorial Interns for summer/fall/spring semesters

Want to work for an edgy, future-forward, hip, smart city magazine? Raleigh Magazine may have a spot for you.

Our Summer/Fall/Spring internships are in-house, 10 hours per week minimum (set schedule).

The internships are unpaid, but we are more than willing to sign off on course credit as applicable.

Editorial candidates will report to the associate editor and EIC, and can expect to:

- Learn the ins and outs of a magazine from slate to press
- Master tone/audience awareness and how to write on-brand
- Obtain digital and print bylines, including an 800-plus-word print feature
- Work on AP Style expertise (and house style guide)
- Gain fact-checking, copy editing and interviewing experience
- Build skills in SEO, Wordpress, newsletters
- Gain social media experience
- Work with a high-energy, tight-knit positive team with real opportunities to contribute

Interested candidates should email the following to Melissa Howsam, Editor-in-Chief (melissa@raleighmag.com):

Subject: (Season) (Year) Editorial Internship Candidate

Example: Subject: Fall 2022 Internship Candidate

Please specify:

Name:

Major:

Will you be seeking course credit?

Graduation year (anticipated or prior):

Available start date:

Availability for the semester/summer (M-F, in office; please note if you have a preferred availability).

Resume (attach) or LinkedIn: